

Ba-boom, Ba-boom, Ba-boom...

Patricia Campbell, DO, Dartmouth-Hitchcock Keene Pediatrician, pictured below and at left with her patient Hannah Drew

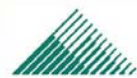

"Do you know where your heart is?"
I put my stethoscope on her chest and listen.
"I can hear it," I say, as I look into her eyes.
"Have you ever heard your heart beat?" I ask her.
She shakes her head no, eyes wide.
"Do you want to?" I ask her.
She nods enthusiastically. I place the stethoscope gently in her ears.
She's beaming, eyes sparkling. Her face is glowing in awe.
"Ba-boom, ba-boom, ba-boom . . ."
